

Ever wonder what life is like for a cartoon character trying to make it in show business?

The Wonderful, Happy, Cartoon World of Steve & Bluey takes readers on a trip into the life and times of a hard-working cartoon comedy team, revealing an entertaining look at how cartoons are made – from the cartoon's point of view!

Set during the 1990s, when the guys were experiencing an intense period of productivity, these stories from “a few friends and colleagues” recount the international adventures of Steve and Bluey’s industrious career in radio, television and print.

The Wonderful, Happy, Cartoon World of Steve & Bluey is filled with behind-the-scenes adventure, reflection on success in the arts, and warm tribute to a lovable comedy team searching for their place in the world.

“...an entertaining guide for anyone interested in creativity and a life in the arts.”

– Gerry Goldstein,
Board of Directors, Galaxy Film Studios

About the author

Steven Fischer is a two-time Emmy® Award nominated writer-producer, and cartoonist.

He is the author of There's a Blue Dog Under My Bed, and has produced animated and live action stories for a wide range of patrons including PBS, TV Asia, and Nextel.

His cinema work includes the critically acclaimed animated documentary Freedom Dance (2007) and Old School New School (2010), a personal study on creativity.

He is a Fulbright recipient, and sought internationally to speak on creative self-development.

ISBN 978-0-9627367-3-5

$12.95 USD